

CANNED MUSIC AND BRIGHT BOB SLEDs TO HELP THIS U. S. ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

THE STEAM WHALER "DIANA" STEAMING OUT OF NEW YORK FOR THE ARCTIC.

Staff Special.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Canned music as first aid to arctic explorers is to have its first test in the expedition which has just sailed on the steam whaler "Diana" to explore Crocker Land under the leadership of Dr. Donald B. MacMillan.

Peary used gum drops and repeating rifles in his discovery of the North Pole.

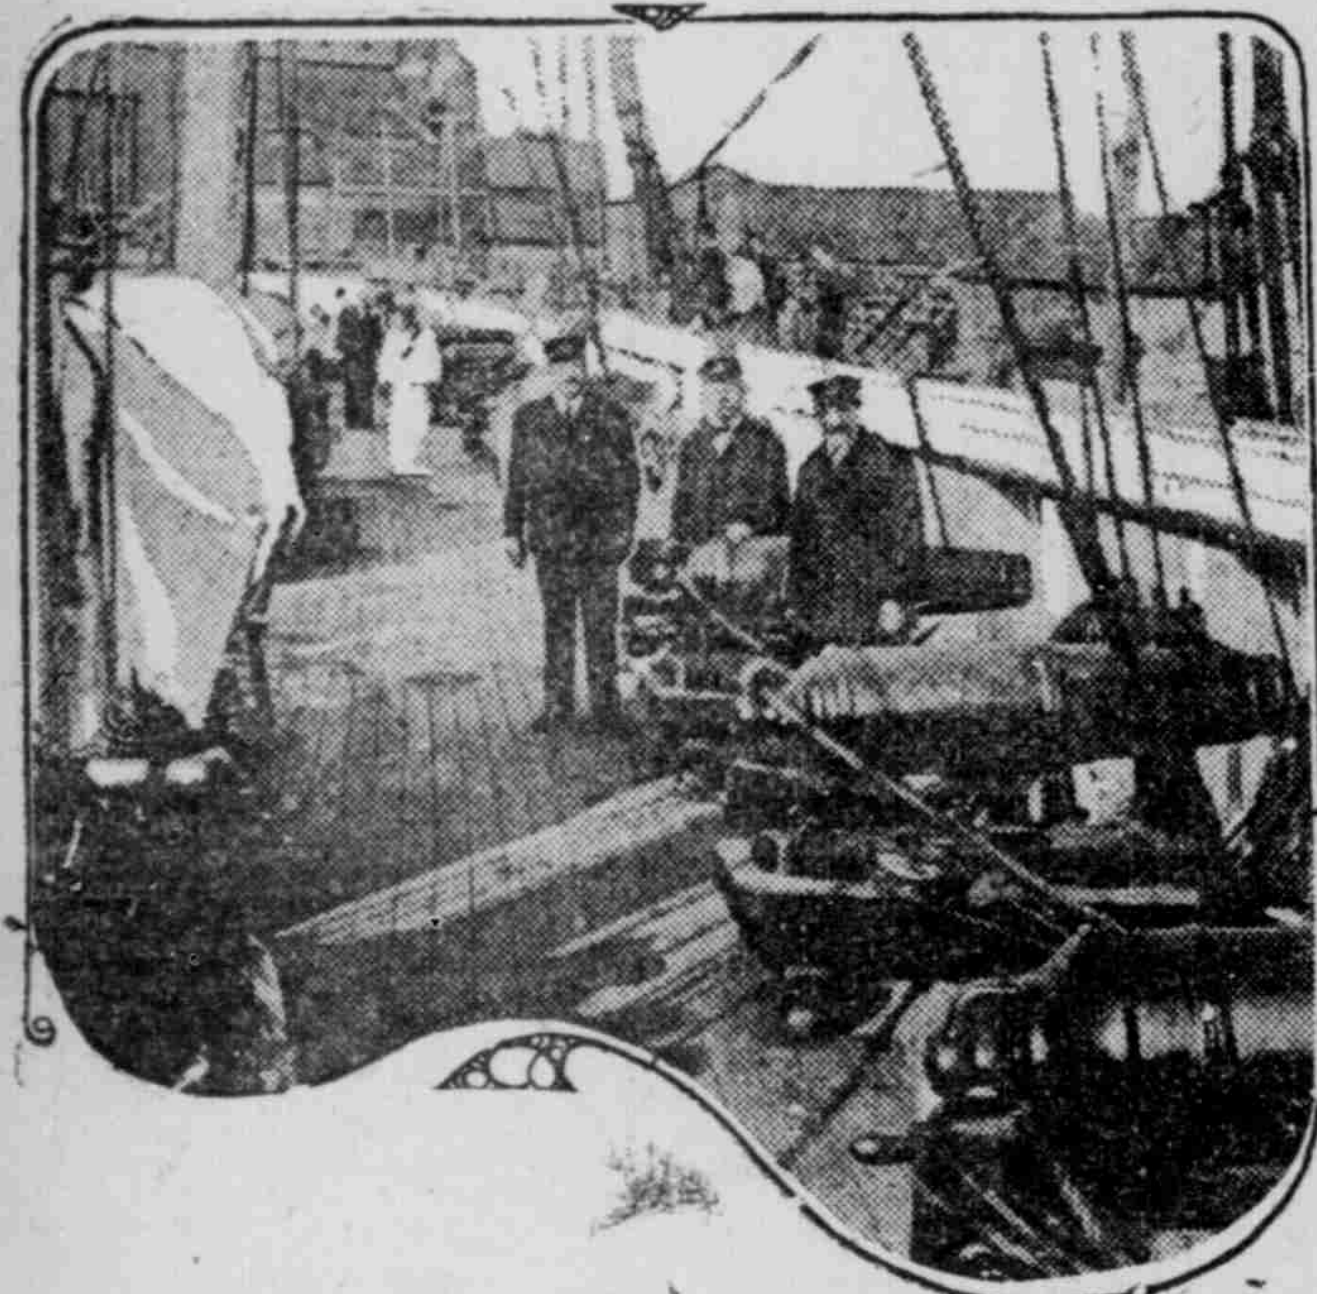

Dr. MacMillan, who has been in the far north several times, is staking the success of the "Diana" expedition on music to be provided by some seven phonographs, using 300 records. And he is also banking on the popularity he will gain by distributing the contents of a crate of bright new bob sleds among the children. And, of course, the ship carries several barrels of gum drops.

The Crocker Land expedition has been organized to find out what the mountains were that Peary saw far to the north of Greenland when he made his dash toward the Pole in 1908. No scientific body had ever heard of land that far north or in that position.

Dr. MacMillan is an experienced arctic traveler, having been with Peary, Flah and Shackleton at various times. The "Diana" goes to Flagler Bay, where the explorers will begin their hazardous walk to the mysterious mountains Peary calls Crocker Land. MacMillan has a number of new devices to assist him. His sledges have been made according to a different pattern and are considerably lighter than those used by Peary.

PERRY'S FLAGSHIP, "NIAGARA," IS PLOWING THROUGH WATERS TO SCENE OF FAMOUS BATTLE.

"WE HAVE MET THE ENEMY AND THEY ARE OURS!"—PERRY.

A view of the deck of Perry's flagship, "Niagara," as she appeared in her dock at Erie, Pa., from whence she is being towed by the United States training ship Wolverine of Erie, on her voyage through the lakes, where one hundred years ago Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry won his glorious naval engagement in the war of 1812. The "Niagara," which was rebuilt from the hull of the original flagship raised from the bottom of Lake Erie, where she rested for a century, is refitted in exactly the fashion of 100 years ago.

TANGO GOWN IS THE LATEST PARIS OFFERING

Women Don't Bother About Their Waists—It's the Calf and Ankle These Days.

NEW YORK, July 17.—"Women don't care how large their waists are, but seem anxious for gowns that make the ankle and calf visible," said a Madison av. importer here Wednesday, and to meet this demand a new gown has been introduced from Paris.

The latest to appear here is the "tango gown." It is a dancing frock, but instead of a slit skirt, it consists of a pair of small Turkish trousers. The trousers reach to the ankles where they are held by a band of crystal beads. A drape of crepe is over the trousers, but this is open, being held only by a few stitches as far as the hip line. The upper part of the figure is not outlined.

KANSAS IS IN THE GRIP OF HOT WAVE

KANSAS CITY, July 17.—Four deaths and a score of prostrations was the toll of heat Wednesday in Kansas and western Missouri, where the mercury hovered at most points between 100 and 112 degrees. Hot winds brought much distress. Clay Center, where the government thermometer mounted to 113 degrees Tuesday, again held the high record Wednesday, with a mark of 112. There were several prostrations. Eight persons were prostrated in Kansas City, where the mercury rose to 102 in the government observatory.

EMPLOYERS ASKED TO HELP IN FIGHT

Manufacturers Are Requested to Aid the State Association Against Tuberculosis.

"Are you interested in the dollars and cents side of life?" This query forms the basis for an appeal which is being sent to Indiana manufacturers by the Indiana Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The letter has been addressed to 400 large employers of labor, and is signed by Prof. Burrage and Walter D. Thurber, the president and secretary of the association.

The appeal is accompanied by a financial statement which sets forth the receipts and expenditures of the association since the organization was formed in 1911, down to the present time.

In brief the report shows that in 1911 the state association received $4,632.13 as a result of the sale of seven thousand eight hundred twelve Red Cross seals during that year; $7,812.23 was retained by county associations for the fight in local communities, and $1,556.93 was sent to the American Red Cross.

During last year the state society expended $690.17 for care of patients at the Rockwood sanatorium, $380 for office expenses, $513.05 for traveling expenses, exhibit at state fair and miscellaneous $227.02, printing $33.30, and cash returned to county organizations $186.15.

From the seals campaign in 1912, the state association received only $1,785.82 owing to the fact that more county organizations had been formed, and under the rule that had been established, all of these retained 75 per cent of their total sale. The total amount retained by the various local organizations was $8,329.33. The American Red Cross received $1,283.88.

Since the beginning of 1913 the state organization has employed an executive secretary on a salary and maintains offices in the Public Savings building in Indianapolis, in rooms donated by the Public Savings Life Insurance Co. It has been active in assisting local societies to complete their organization, has prepared blue prints and charts for numerous tuberculosis exhibits that are being constructed in various parts of the state, provides speakers on tuberculosis at many important gatherings, and is maintaining an aggressive publicity bureau.

It is for the purpose of still further broadening the scope of the work that the association is appealing to hundreds of Indiana manufacturers, pointing out the fact that tuberculosis often strikes the working class, and that in numerous instances the victim continues at his post of duty longer than he is able to do justice to his job. Not only that, but he frequently infects other employees and still further lowers the efficiency of the working force.

The letter points out that more men and women in Indiana die of tuberculosis each year than all other contagious diseases combined and that their majority is of people at an age when they should be in their prime instead of wasting away from a disease that can be prevented.

TROUBLE BREAKS OUT DURING CONVENTION

James J. Littrell is Elected Democratic City Chairman Over Dr. C. C. Bower.

ELKHART, Ind., July 17.—Bedlam broke loose in a democratic mass convention here Wednesday night and for a few minutes threatened to disrupt the proceedings. Editor Fred Palmer of the Elkhart Truth, who was chairman of the convention, was able to restore quiet only after he had threatened to eject the alleged disturbers from the hall.

The convention had been called to perfect a city organization for the fall campaign and the trouble arose after James J. Littrell and Dr. C. C. Bower had been nominated for the city chairmanship. It seems that printed slips bearing Mr. Littrell's name had been distributed but none bearing the name of Dr. Bower. C. H. Hackman, a prominent union labor man, strenuously objected and made a motion that all ballots be written and not printed. A viva voce vote was taken and Chairman Palmer ruled that the motion was lost, although to an outsider the vote seemed about even.

In the balloting which followed James J. Littrell was elected chairman over Dr. Bower by a majority of 65 votes. Wilmar L. O'Brien was chosen vice chairman and secretary, and A. R. Kesler treasurer by acclamation.

STATEMENT NO. 6

The City Judge should be familiar with the results secured throughout the country by the newer methods in handling minor offenders, such as probation, suspended sentence, pledge, and paying fines on installment, and by personal work by the court. I believe in these methods.
